Eugene Wolynowski

Hi Vic.
Here's a lot of luck to a swell guy. We surely did had a time fifth hand Here's hoping you can still be good golfer!
Plenty of luck
on your trip your friend

Good luck to a really great guy who I think is Vegas. Keep up the grand trumpet playing.

Ed Kasch

Dear Vic
I have you in one of my classes next year. You're a swell fellow + A-1 trumpeter Remember Mrs. Shimm?
As if we could forget.

Love,
Lene Kupke

Hi Vic;
We had a lot of fun in History
+ I wish that our friendship will cont. in the coming year.
Belmont Ornel

Dear Vic,
To a swell musician and History student Good Luck and success.
By the time you get through with all the luck you'll get you should have nothing to worry about.

Dolores Glatkowski

Well Vic, —
We tried for the Boys' Club — Oh, well, maybe
I'll make it next time!
Harry Schaefer

Best of luck
to the Harry James of Bay View & also a swell kid to Gordon Ross
Good Luck, Victor.
You really are a "hep cat"
I wish that Dance Band.
Believe me, your Really one second Harry James.
John Kasser.

Dear Vic,
Here's stuff for you,
you old son of a gun.
Stay the Harry James.
You'll be all right.
Did you

Dear Vic
You surely can blow
the trumpet I mean, I hope some day you'll be up on the bandstand.
I'll be one of your rosters
Success
Alice

Dear Vic.
Good luck to a fellow band member and a swell kid. Keep up the good work on the trumpet.
Dolores Wymack.
(Carmichael)

Vic:
 There'll be a million kids writing to you with the same old chatter; "you're a swell kid" etc, but being one of your pals for a darn long time puts meaning behind everything I say for you. Vic, you're tops, and I consider myself fortunate to be one of your intimate friends another trumpet man,

Charles Ammerman

Vic
 Cheers to you & your fine music
 Sheridan

Good Luck to the popular kid that knows how to play that trumpet.
 Virginia Smith

Dear Vic.
 It's been fun
 knowing you in Arch.
 All I can do is wish you loads of success in the future.
 A pal
 Thomas Dampman

Vic:
 Here's the best of luck to the Harry James of Bay View May you continue to be such a good trumpet player.
 A. H. King

 Benie Griffith

Loads of luck to a great trumpeter and a swell guy.
 "Kizzy"

To a guy who really knows how to blow his horn
 Best of Luck

Ralph Reigel

Best wishes Vic.
 Can't say more!
 "Lee" 44

Here's to a swell guy and a very good trumpeter. You'll have to come around again and will have another jam session I'm a swell fellow and fellow and trumpeter. She's best of Gene Battinburg Cassey Adams

Good Luck Vic
 Len (Zoot) Rossa

Dear Vic Tor
 Well I guess everyone has told you how wonderful your band is. I'm awfully glad to have you stop it in my history class and as you see you just permeter just as well as you do. Everything Best of Luck to you
 Dr. Gino.
 It's been swell living in Pictured in this, the 1943 Oracle Annual, are faces and scenes like those many a Bay View graduate, fighting for his country in unfriendly skies, in alien lands, and on the Seven Seas has taken with him in the great Book of Memory. He has come to know, not in an intellectual fashion but in his own living that distance, shortened by the plane, is a barrier and a bulwark no more. And in countless homes fathers and mothers, their hearts ever with a fighting son. Because of him know how the world, circled by the plane shrinks with the passing hours, and Bay View students from these homes feel the sweep of great days in which the world struggles in agony to make itself one.

Dedication

Hia Vic
Best of Luck to that fellow who really can blow from like Harry
No kidding
Warren Z. Zuck

To Bay View boys, scattered as they are from the hot deserts of Africa to the steaming swamps of the South Pacific, this book is dedicated. Through the alchemy of memory, traveling faster than the speediest plane, they return again and again to Bay View as it stands majestically on the brow of the terraced hill, oblivious of the furies or caresses of the seasons. They go inside to wander again down the shadowy corridors, to renew old friendships, to relieve the full, exuberant days of youth.

To all these Bay View boys, but especially to those still in their teens and early twenties now serving with the armed forces, we would dedicate this, the 1943 Oracle Annual. When they glance through its pages, may a resurgence of the scenes of youth confirm in them their faith in the democratic principles for which they are fighting, and help them to endure this present until that great day when they come home again.

Dear Vic,
It's been nice having you in my

Bay View's branch of the High School Victory Corps, a national voluntary organization designed to mobilize school students for more effective preparation for participation in wartime service, contains seventeen members, each representing a different Bay View activity. The officers during the past year were: June Diederich, president; Richard Henry, vice-president, and Eugene Grieshaber, student representative.

On Tuesday morning, March 9, Mr. Frank Kuhl, Chairman of the War Savings Staff of Wisconsin, presented the Treasury Department award to Bay View High School for outstanding Stamp and Bond sales. The award acted as an incentive to Bay View, and by May 1 the total sale since Pearl Harbor was $409,978.35, the largest weekly sale $31,906.20 being on April 20. Mr. Book, in charge of the sale, and June Diederich are here accepting the sil Minute Man banner for the school. The banner hung each week in that homeroom which had the largest per capita sales.

Orderly confusion in the office on Tuesday mornings results when the fifty-seven messengers come to buy war stamps for their homeroom groups. The office staff and Mr. Nuernberger, Miss Statz, and Mrs. Cutter, are on hand to count the money and hand over the stamps.

Beginning at eight o'clock every Tuesday morning, scores of Bay View students form long lines in the library to place their orders for war bonds. Three teachers—Mr. Wiley, Mr. Book, and Mr. May—are on duty to accept these orders. The bonds are typed at school and given to the purchasers Tuesday afternoon.

When everyone in a homeroom purchases stamps or bonds, a stamp is added to the shield above the door of the homeroom. George Bauch and Robert Anderson are two of the crew, who, working under Mr. Gardner, keep the homeroom records up to date. The flag indicates that the room was one of the top three in the sales for one week.

One of the most important jobs in connection with the weekly bond sales is done by the typists. These girls work all day on Tuesday. The school has a United States Treasury Department authorization to function as a subagent for the issuing of bonds.

St. Patrick's Day was the inspiration for a Victory Corps sponsored drive. Corsages of War Stamps, trimmed with either the timely green or the ever popular red, white, and blue, were sold at the Victory table in front of the auditorium. Some of the salesladies were: (left to right) Etha Horngren, Maryanne Krainik, Patricia Krause, Marjorie Mohr, and Jean Parks. Their co-workers were: Jeane Bolz, June Diederich, Dolores Kominowsky, and June Rowan.

Every Tuesday morning while homeroom messengers are getting War Stamps in the Office, one half of the school, either the freshman-senior or the junior-sophomore group, meets in the auditorium. Mr. Williams directs the students in the singing of popular war songs.

With drawings and signs made by the Art Department, the group pictured here decorates the bulletin board on the second floor so that it indicates each week what fighting equipment might be purchased with the money invested by Bay View students and teachers in War Stamps and Bonds.

Bay View's "Schools at War" Scrapbook, which won first place in the State of Wisconsin, is being shown to Dr. Korn by Hilda Naujock, Leona Piech, and Rose Marie Kaja, members of the committee which worked on the book.

Gloria Linzmeyer and Shirley Gosch, the Victory Singers, are heard each Monday afternoon spurring Stamp and Bond sales at Bay View. Their song precedes the weekly speech by Mr. Book.

Roddy McDowall, English refugee who sprang to fame for his part in "How Green Was My Valley," spoke to Bay View students April 13 in the interests of the Second War Loan Drive. He later entertained at a luncheon given to the High School Victory Corps.

Mr. Kuhl, after presenting Bay View High School with the Liberty Brick, compliments Miss Steel, faculty advisor, and three girls who prepared the scrapbook which was sent to Washington.

Roddy McDowall is shown with Ben Barkin, chairman of the Milwaukee drive, June Diederich, and Dr. Korn, when he spoke to the students in West Study Hall.

This is a scene at James Whitcomb Riley, one of many schools at which students were asked to help when Ration Book II was issued. Mr. Schoeller was in charge of the Bay View group pictured here.

Because of Bay View's response in the Gold Star Drive, each student who purchased a war bond in the drive was allowed to autograph a huge bomb headed straight for Berlin. There were over three hundred signatures.

Four students who worked on the drive are pictured above autographing Hitler's birthday present. They are: Eugene Grieshaber, June Diederich, Jean Parks, and Patricia Krause.

Grade school principals complimented Bay View student ration crews on their efficiency. Here is Mr. Wiley in charge of a group.

On February 9, Commander Frank of Bay View Post No. 180 of the American Legion, awarded a plaque to Bay View in recognition of the school's outstanding War Stamp and Bond Sales. June Diederich is accepting it while Dr. Korn looks on.

When war ration book number two was issued, the teachers of Bay View volunteered as registrars. Two of them, Mr. Fritsche and Mr. Gillo, are shown below.

William Stusek, Jack Niemann, William Riley, Richard Rechlicz, Russell Soli, Walter Mahnke, Richard Barnes, and Joseph Esperes are a few of the boys being instructed by Miss Lynch in the art of cooking.

Workers on the Honor Roll file in which is kept a record of every Bay View graduate in service are: June Diederich, Donald Barber, Patricia Krause, Jean Parks, and Mary Jane Kimber. These students work under the direction of Miss Lane.

Members of Miss Lane's classes provide the war copy read over the loud speaker morning and afternoon. It is a means of developing patriotism at Bay View and of stimulating the sale of War Stamps and Bonds.

A few of the students who contributed 275 pounds and 12 ounces to the six-day key drive are seen as they pass the key table before the mural.

Bay View Victory Artists Carolyn Studt, Emily Olsen, Rose Sijan, Josephine Sousha, Katherine Young, Audrey Rogers, Audrey Bartlett, Donald Gill, and Gordon Meyer below; Gilbert Seston, and Eugene Battenberg above work on patriotic posters.

Every week these Victory Reporters present skits over the loud speaker system, dramatizing some problem brought about by the war.

The contest between the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors to see which group would come in first in the key drive is watched by Justine Hansen, June Diederich, and Lois and Gloria Linzmeyer.

In an X Club sponsored paper drive the students of Bay View collected 6,270 pounds of paper. The money realized from the sale of the paper was used in the purchase of a War Bond.

The plane made by the aeronautics class under the guidance of Mr. Gillo is shown in the process of construction. As a part of his work, each member of the class puts in a certain number of hours upon this plane, which is modeled after the Link Trainer.

Here is the finished plane. It is mounted on a standard and like the Link Trainer is controllable in all directions. The student pilots using ear phones, are given their directions by means of a communication system. The plan was in operation before the end of the semester.

Alvin Simon is pictured holding the model plane built by the manual arts department for the aeronautics class. The feature of this plane is that the stick and rudder bar can both be manipulated.

The aeronautics classes have prepared a polar map by which they prove the shortest distance to Europe and Asia is over the North Pole. Working on this map are: Robert Wurm, John Jaeger, and Harlan Hobbs. It is this type of activity that brings students to a realization that the world is growing smaller.

This flight trainer plays an important part in aeronautics class. By moving the hand and foot controls John Fuhrman can duplicate the movements of a plane. Watching him are George Cobb, Alvin Simon and Donald Larson.

These future defense workers are going to be well able to take their place in the war effort. Paul Fritz, James Albrecht, and James Burke are pictured here learning to run lathes and drill presses and using precision measuring instruments and gauges.

Some of the boys of the electronics class are learning the International Morse Code by listening to a record and translating the dots and dashes. They are: Leonard Peters, William Riley, James Severance, Thomas Heaton, John Jaeger, Richard Schneider, and Ralph Woods.

Practical radio repair work is of major importance to the boys taking electronics. Those working here are: John Pahlow, Jerome Peters, Leonard Risse and Neale Rosmann. About thirty boys are enrolled in this course.

A fine example of cooperation between two departments is evidenced here. Two members of the electronics class are operating telegraph keys made by the manual arts department.

Thelma Schaefer demonstrates the proper use of a gas mask, with Betty Jane Albright as the model.

To promote stamp sales the Victory Corps and Art Department printed Easter cards, given to each student buying one dollar's worth of stamps. The girls are: Marjorie Mohr, Jean Parks, and Maryanne Krainik.

Robert Scheunemann, Gerald Pyne, and Ray Zobel are experimenting here with plastics. Since much of our metal is being used for war purposes, the new field of plastics is important.

All Bay View students are enrolled in physical training classes, in which the girls have the fun that comes through the development of physical skills, and at the same time acquire the fine spirit that alone makes team work successful. This girl's gym-class is shown taking conditioning exercises.

If an incendiary bomb ever hit Bay View, Cliff Zobel and Jack Zimmerman would be right on the job.

Frank Kirsch and David Danoff are shown experimenting with the use of kitchen fats in making glycerine. Although the boys succeeded, the method was found to take too long and be too expensive for any practical use.

On April 2, Bay View boys, all of them seniors, took examinations offered by the Army and Navy to those interested in officers' training. Those boys chosen had to pass physical and oral tests before being accepted for college. Mr. Wiley, at the desk, and Miss Lane and Mr. Suttle are the faculty members who were in charge.

Upon the air raid warning, wardens rush to their posts at fire extinguishers and fire fighting equipment. Others patrol the halls to see that the students facing the wall are quiet, and are in safe places away from windows. Each room has been assigned a definite spot to which all students in the room are sent at the warning of the siren.

THE SCHOOL 1943

Mr. Frank Kuhl, State Administrator, War Savings Staff for Wisconsin, visited Bay View on April 13, 1943, to award the Liberty Brick, taken from Independence Hall, Philadelphia, last year when that historic structure was renovated. This recognition came to Bay View for winning first place in Wisconsin in the "Schools at War" Scrapbook Contest.

The School at War

War demands great sacrifices from Youth, offers equally great opportunities. It is the function of education to prepare Youth for both.

In class and out, war motivates all activities at Bay View. Unrest and uncertainty are counteracted by providing realistic conditions under which each student enjoys full participation. Emphasis in instruction is placed upon the importance of the subject to the war and post-war world. Civilian war activities, humanitarian in nature, are brought to the students. Continued school attendance for future security is stressed over acceptance of the temporary job. Wise selective service regulations which defer the induction of students during the term, and the splendid army and navy provisions which place an enlisted reserve in the school contribute to the feeling that each student has a function to perform as a citizen of the Democracy.

Bay View students meet their daily tasks with a quiet confidence born of the knowledge that the course they are following will best prepare them for the days ahead.

Guidance in War Time

The measure of the success of any advisement program is how near it comes to helping students to adjust to life itself. At Bay View, counselors and homeroom teachers are trying to fit the scholastic program to each individual student, attempting to develop in him the great qualities of loyalty, self-reliance, leadership—qualities which assume an even greater importance in the “black light” of war.

The increased tempo of all living, the drafting of boys in their teens, the sobering realization by all high school students of at least a part of what the future may hold for them have greatly increased the responsibilities of the guidance department. Those in charge at Bay View feel that for most students the formal educational process should continue as long as the government will allow boys and girls to go to school and actual need is not forcing them into industry.

It is the aim of the entire counselor staff to make each student who is approaching the working age aware that the temporary allurements of high pay should be carefully weighed before the ties of school life are severed.

And because many Bay View boys and girls are animated by more than just a desire to get on in the world, because many do feel the unrest of these times which seems to say to young people, "Why bother today when your future will be so short?" and because even more feel the surge of a great desire to serve and not count the cost, the entire guidance department, from counselor to homeroom teacher, while not attempting to deny the realities of life in a country whose youth will bear the heaviest burdens of the war and of the peace, is trying to help young people to keep their emotional stability and look the future in the eye.

ACTIVITIES

Every Tuesday morning, Bay View devotes an hour to the sale of War Stamps and Bonds. In fifty-seven homerooms, student monitors direct the stamp sales while bonds are being purchased in the library. From the first sales day, December 16, 1941, through May 11, 1943, $400,915.30 worth of stamps and bonds were bought. This represents an average student purchase of over two hundred dollars.

The Annual

The editors of the Oracle Annual were faced this year with problems brought about by the rising prices and by the shortages and priorities created by a total war. They knew that with all the activity of Bay View there would be much to record, yet practical problems would place restrictions on the book.

Copper for the dies necessary for the type of cover to which Bay View students are accustomed had to be ordered not later than December, and that meant that the entire theme of the book had to be decided by that time and that the number of books to be ordered had to be determined. Anticipating a shortage, last year the advisors of the Oracle ordered the fine type of paper for which Bay View tradition calls.

Because of the war, the usual system of picture-taking had to be revised. In previous years, the photographer could make what now seems an unlimited number of trips to Bay View. This year, however, gas and tire rationing necessitated the planning of air-tight schedules, crowding as many pictures as possible into one day. Then there was the fear that the photographer would exhaust his unreplenishable supply of flash bulbs before all the pictures were taken.

Another problem, different in nature, arose from the war. When the "School at War" is Bay View High, there is such an abundance of war activities that a selection must be made of those to be featured in an annual. Limited space, film, and other essentials made it necessary for the editors to choose those scenes from the new courses, the Victory Corps activities, the club programs, stepped up to the tempo of the war, which were most important.

In the midst of all this, the Oracle Annual subscription drive brought a week of fun to Bay View. Students and teachers lent their talents to noon-hour skits, which were presented fourth and sixth hours as well as fifth, to the commercials given over the public address system every morning and afternoon, to the creation of posters and tags advertising the Annual.

The first day of the campaign, an announcement to the effect that only eighteen hundred Annuals would be available to the students of Bay View started a landslide of subscriptions. The circulation manager and his staff were rushed by students, each eager to assure himself that one of the rationed books would be reserved for him. The quota of subscriptions was surpassed, and by the end of the first week, over twelve hundred Annuals had been paid for.

The Annual

In all the planning, one effect was sought in this book. In the minds of the editors was the idea of presenting Bay View as it is now during the war, and of showing how much of the old remains in spite of the changes made necessary. They sought, moreover, to make every Bay View student keenly aware of what he senses vaguely—that he is living in an age when distance is being shortened every day, an age in which the swift flight to any point on the face of the globe is merely a matter of hours—not weeks.

The book was to be, the editors hoped, a book that to every graduate would bring a quickening of memory when he saw the old scenes he knew so well—scenes changed now by the war; and it was designed especially to be a memory book for students now attending Bay View, many of whom before long will probably be called to distant parts of the world in the service of their country.

The Newspaper

The year 1942-1943 has been one of ceaseless activity for the staff of the Oracle bi-weekly newspaper. Students working on the publication who remember their experiences as freshmen and sophomores realize that stories that a few years ago made the front page now receive an insignificant spot on the last sheet, crowded out by the more important stories of Bay View's war activities. Frequently, most of the news stories break just before the deadline date, and it is the problem of the editors, not to find enough material to print, but to decide which stories are the most vital.

Bringing the news to every subscriber and keeping a record so that those who come after may know how Bay View Students responded to the call of war, has been the main concern of the Oracle newspaper.

With every issue, the scene of the greatest activity is the Oracle Office, where the staff of the newspaper works on one issue and prepares for the newspaper to follow. Here the Editor-in-chief meets with her staff to plan the lay-out of the paper and decide upon the stories to be written and the length of each. They must determine what pictures to have taken by Mr. Kyper, who on behalf of the Oracle, generously runs around the building with his camera.

An Oracle reporters' meeting is then announced, and thirty to fifty reporters, experienced and inexperienced, turn out for each issue to receive their assignments.

Rounding up the reporters, scouting for bits of news, and writing last-minute stories before the deadline, are all part of the editor's numerous tasks. After the original stories are handed in, they must be corrected or revised, and given a final check for accuracy of names and dates. Several faculty advisors assist the editors in this man-sized job. Typed stories must be headlined and the exact number of inches determined before they are finally ready to be sent to the printers. After the linotype machine "sets them up," a galley proof is taken and returned to the staff to be proof-read.

Next comes the trip to the printers, where the editors write picture legends, captions, and headlines, and paste up a dummy page from the style sheet so that the page can be made up. Here the staff really enjoys the atmosphere of the composing room—the ceaseless rumbling of presses, the steady clicking of the linotype machines, the constant rushing, and above all, the incisive voice of Pat, who has helped many a worried Bay View editor to keep his head when late stories arrive and last-minute headlines are too long.

Only after the final page proofs are read and re-read are the pages ready to be "locked up" and sent to the press room. Then the staff staggers wearily back to school, tired, but buoyed by a feeling of genuine accomplishment. The final satisfaction comes when the buzzer in the Oracle Office rings, and a voice announces, "The papers are here." The entire staff knows that because of their work another newspaper has come to Bay View.

Boys' Club

Boys' Club at Bay View has always meant an opportunity for social gatherings, an opportunity to develop leadership, character, and a general social attitude toward all members. Now, with every boy faced with the duty of serving his country, Boys' Club has pledged itself to educate its members concerning the needs and opportunities of the armed forces; accordingly, much of the social program of the club during 1942-1943 was sacrificed in favor of demonstrations and lectures on the war effort. To further interest in athletics, the Boys' Club sponsors the annual Marathon Run. This year the Marathon trophy was awarded to John Wagner. In order to give talented members a chance to appear before their fellow-students, a musical or talent show is presented each year in addition to the skits at election.

For the betterment of the school, Boys' Club has contributed generously to the G. A. Fritsche Memorial Scholarship Fund, and has, in conjunction with the Girls' Club, brought many interesting and educational speakers to Bay View.

A real treat for the boys was a lecture on November 19, by Lt. F. D. Sauter of the U. S. Army. Lt. Sauter spoke of the many opportunities in the armed forces and in war industry, and stressed the fact that a boy is more valuable to his country after he has completed his high school education than he would be if he left school before he had completed his course.

The Armistice Day program, as in previous years, was sponsored by the Boys' Club. The speaker of the day was Mr. Frank L. Greenya, executive director of the Milwaukee County Council of Defense, who spoke on the theme, "America at War Looks Back at the Armistice."

The opening program of the second semester featured a travelogue on South America and a film of the Curtiss airplane works entitled, "How a Fighting Ship is Made." Outstanding on the semester's programs were demonstrations by the aeronautics and electronics classes. The aeronautics class exhibited various aeronautical and weather equipment, while the electronics group performed several experiments and "electronical stunts."

At a joint meeting of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs, Mr. J. A. Zell gave a lecture on and an exhibition of his collection of furs. Later in the year a technicolor movie, "That Pal of Mine," was also sponsored by the Boys' Club, the proceeds going to the G. A. Fritsche Memorial Fund. The movie was especially interesting, for the scene was laid in one of the national forests of the United States.

Thus membership in Boys' Club has made the life of a Bay View boy a little richer and a little fuller. May the many happy moments in club meetings live on in his memory and make him a better soldier and a better citizen.

1943 MODELS

Girls' Club

It was "all out for Victory" in the Girls' Club this year, with a host of well planned activities keyed to the war effort. Under the guidance of the group of eager, enthusiastic officers and faculty advisors, the club presented a year of top-rate entertainment and instruction to the girls of Bay View.

War-time wardrobes, a vital problem to the style-conscious miss, were discussed and demonstrated at an up-to-the minute style show, presented on April first. 1943 styles, affected as they are by war restrictions as to material and cut, were modeled by club members.

Because of the need for sound bodies to meet war-time strain, physical fitness played an important part in the Girls' Club curriculum. At one of the meetings, muscle-developing exercises and effective gymnastics were demonstrated for a Girls' Club audience.

A sharp change in the policy of the club was evident when the distribution of candy bars at the first and last meetings of the season was abruptly halted. Girls' Club candy bars literally "went to war" because of shortage.

Navigating the course of the Girls' Club activities during the first semester were five capable officers elected by popular vote of club members. Marion Wight acted as president, Helen Walton as vice-president, Dorothy Sanderson as secretary, Bonita Beyer as treasurer, and Carol Swan as sergeant-at-arms. Such clever, well-executed programs as "The Football Game," and Style Show were presented under the direction of these five girls.

To succeed the officers of the preceding semester, an equally competent group of girls was elected to take over the responsibility of entertaining Girls' Club members successfully. Well remembered are the constructive as well as hilarious bits of diversion which helped to make eighth hours at Bay View worthwhile and educational. Officers directing these programs were Carol Matzen, president; Johanna Boggio, vice-president; Inez Bucarrelli, secretary; Joyce Walker, treasurer; and Peggy Potton, sergeant-at-arms.

Among the programs given during the second semester were "The Four Seasons," a colorful portrayal of what is peculiar to each season of the year, and the Girls' Club party, at which members were served tasty refreshments—a truly rare treat in these days of rationing and sacrifice.

The yearly contribution was again presented to the G. A. Fritsche Memorial Scholarship Fund in the form of a fifty-dollar War Bond.

Dramatic Club

Entertainment is serving on many war fronts these days to boost the morale of our fighting men and keep them smiling. But another front, the home front, must be strengthened and kept smiling, too. To do this has been the aim of the members and directors of Dramatic Club for the past two semesters. Through the study of the theater and its different divisions and the presentation of dramatic material, they have kept alive for themselves the imagination and color of the theater.

Every Bay View student who submits himself for tryouts, whose scholarship is good, and who is able to convince the judges that he has some developed or latent ability may have a chance at the fun offered its members by the dramatic society. If he longs to exercise his histrionic ability, if he would know more about make-up and costuming, or study good modern plays, he will find opportunities opening for him through this club.

During the first semester, five separate groups studied different fields of dramatics. Mrs. Shutes, the chairman of the club, had charge of the study of costuming; Miss De la Hunt directed the section that devoted its time to acting; Miss Kieckhefer guided a group of students reading various types of plays; Mr. Owen coached the Christmas play; and Miss Schwaab led a group studying make-up.

Dramatic Club

The traditional one-act plays were presented during the second semester. Miss Schwaab directed the first entitled "$10 a Kiss." The play involved Edith, who bet her brother Robert ten dollars she would be kissed before nightfall—and she was. But how that kiss came about, and the series of hilarious events which accompanied it, were enough to bring amazement and laughter to the audience throughout the entire performance. It was truly one of the Dramatic Club's outstanding productions. The play was given in the auditorium on April 12 by Miss Schwaab's Speech II class. On May 10, three scenes from the modern play, "Junior Miss," were given. The theme of the play was made clear in the presentation of actual excerpts from the play. This program was under the supervision of Mr. Owen.

On April 30, in the Auditorium, the Dramatic and Foreign Language Clubs collaborated to present Mr. James Henry White, who spoke on "Romantic China."

Their study and presentation of worthwhile literature during the past year, made the members of Dramatic Club a better informed cultural group.

Foreign Language Club

In the past year, with the aid of many instructive movies, the Foreign Language Club has taken its members on detailed tours through much of the Allied territory of the world—China, North Africa, Australia, Pan-America, the Philippines. And in addition to this kind of travel which shows students parts of the world that may be closed to them for many years, there were other entertainments for the group. Among them was one given by the "Maids of Cadiz," a harmonious quartet, that sang popular and semi-classical Latin-American numbers to members of the Foreign Language Club at an open meeting on October 16.

Terminating the first semester of the Foreign Language Club was the annual banquet which was held December 10th in the cafeteria. Although war-time priorities restricted the food somewhat, the excellence of the speech given by Dean Meribeth Cameron of Milwaukee-Downer College was not rationed, and those in attendance found her talk very enjoyable. Dean Cameron spoke about her experiences in China where she lived for several years. She concluded her story with interesting bits of Chinese lingo.

Quizzes of various types made up the general meeting of March 9 and the sectional meeting of March 25. These programs were the first two of the second semester. Questions for the programs were submitted by students of foreign languages and adapted for use by the officers and teachers in charge.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS

Foreign Language Club

Pan-American Day was recognized by the presence of Miss Beulah Diaz, a native of Chile, who appeared at a general meeting of the club held in East Study Hall on April 14. Students who attended the meeting asked various questions relating to life in Chile.

On April 30, under the sponsorship of the Foreign Language club, James Henry White showed his beautiful colored slides of Romantic China.

Sectional meetings in which the various divisions of the Foreign Language Club such as the German, the Latin, and the Spanish sections held informal gatherings in separate rooms proved very popular with the members of the club. One act plays, short speeches, and other presentations—all given in one of the foreign languages—constituted the program in these sectional meetings.

The programs of the club were planned by the officers under the guidance of the Foreign Language Club sponsors, Miss Miller, Miss Riley, Miss Prucha, Mrs. Schoofs, and Miss Freund. Foreign language students acted as chairmen at the various performances. Thus with the combined efforts of the sponsors and the foreign language students, excellent speakers and educational movies were brought to the students of Bay View throughout the year.

Round Table

As in 1917-18, Round Table boys have again marched off to fight for their country. Members of the club of twenty years ago, now fathers and mothers, today see their sons and daughters, Round Table members, contributing as they may to the present war effort.

Round Table, Bay View's oldest club and only literary society, has continued through 1942-1943 to present programs similar to those of pre-war days. The year began with the showing of a motion picture, "Jane Eyre," on Oct. 8. For the second meeting there was a variety program featuring duo-tap dancers, a monologue in Italian dialect, and a violin trio; and in the course of time came the annual Round Table Hallowe'en dance in the gymnasium. As usual music was provided by the school dance band, and this year in spite of wartime restrictions, refreshments were served.

It was only natural that in war-conscious Bay View the subject for the annual Round Table debate should be: Resolved, That a curfew be adopted in Milwaukee County for boys and girls under seventeen years of age who are not engaged in war industries. The negative team, Thomas Heaton, Richard Luedke, and Robert Frank were declared victorious over Raymond Ross, Delores Puder, and Richard Naylor.

Round Table

Entirely in the spirit of the times, moreover, was the Thanksgiving program, presented as it has been for many years by Round Table. After Richard Henry read the annual President's Thanksgiving Day Proclamation, a play depicting a Thanksgiving in wartime was presented at a double convocation.

Among the most important Round Table events of the second semester was the Declamatory Contest held on March 26. First place went to Henry Schade, who in his oration, "Mediocrity Triumphant," paid tribute to our thirtieth President, Calvin Coolidge. At the first April meeting, which was open to all students in the school, Larry Lawrence, humorist and newspaperman, entertained with a talk on his experiences in the field of journalism and as a flier in World War I. At the second meeting in April, a skit depicting the dilemmas arising from wartime rationing was presented. The election of officers for next semester concluded the activities of Round Table for the year.

Following a practice begun some years ago, election skits, many of them original and all of them humorous, were presented by the various candidates, who judged their success by the applause and votes they received from their fellow members. The pre-election campaign furnished one of the most popular meetings of the semester.

X Club

Typical of all the school activities diverted into paths of wartime usefulness has been the work of Bay View's honor society, the X Club. The members of the club staged a successful drive for the collection of magazines and scrap paper, a drive that terminated on January 22 with the collection of a grand total of approximately three tons. Keen competition among the four classes, competition fostered by daily announcements over the loud speaker system, contributed much to the accumulating of this splendid total.

Encouraging scholarship, however, is the special province of the X Club. Students who receive an "Excellent" on each report card day are eligible for membership; those earning a semester's "Excellent" are entitled to a semester's membership, with the provision that no succeeding marks fall below 85 nor the average below 87.

Homerooms compete with one another for the eight honor plaques bearing the club's motto, "Youth is the Time to Learn," which are awarded to those having the highest scholastic percentage in their semester groups. During the past year the plaques were seen most frequently in the homerooms of Miss Welsh, Miss Bahr, Miss Whelan, Mr. Nelson, Mrs. Arnold, Mr. Dennis, and Mrs. Urban. At present, the club, which is under the supervision of Miss Prucha and Miss Riley, has a membership of close to a hundred students. Its business is transacted largely through various committees such as the guide, statistics, tutoring, civilian defense, and scholarship groups.

X Club

A small gold pin with the letters BVHS set in the middle of an X is the official emblem of the club, symbolizing that the wearer has achieved an "Excellent" average for an entire semester. For maintaining a consistently high scholastic standing, graduating seniors are elected to the Honor Society, and are entitled to wear an attachable guard bearing the initials B.V.

In addition to providing for attractive club meetings, the presentation of special Life Advisement programs for the four classes is a well-known project of the X Club. Last October a playlet entitled "If You Can Make the Grade" was given for the 9B's, and followed by a freshman battle of wits.

Among the club meetings three are especially remembered. At one of the December meetings members took part in a debate on a subject of very immediate interest to many Bay View students: Resolved, That high school students should not leave school to go to work during the present emergency. In March, Mr. Karl Maslowski, a well known student of outdoor life, gave a lecture on "The Private Lives of Wild Creatures"; and at a later meeting, Mr. Summ of the Art Department was made an honorary X Club member.

The members of X Club feel that by putting an emphasis upon scholarship combined with service they help to strengthen the home front at Bay View.

Science Club

With World War II going into its second year of destruction, the Science Club decided to adapt its activities solely to the furthering of the war effort. As a result, a plan was mapped out which altered the general schedule of field trips and regular auditorium meetings. Instead of these, each Science Club advisor selected about twenty-five students to form a subject group. These groups met regularly eighth and ninth hours twice a month for the purpose of working on some special subject or individual project. Membership was based on interest, dependability, and ability.

The names of the various groups, Victory Gardeners, Chemists, Aviators, are descriptive of their activities. The purpose of the Victory Gardeners was to interest as many students as possible in starting gardens and raising all kind of vegetables. The Gardeners analyzed what types of soil would be best suited to raising profitable crops of various kinds, and presented this information to those interested. They recommended what vegetables would be the most palatable and the most easily produced. The Aviators did a remarkable piece of work in building an airplane large enough for a person to sit in it and to operate it. The plane was used in instructing the boys in the fundamental steps in flying. The Aviators also made bomb sights, drift meters, and propellers; and they had instruction in gunnery practice.

Science Club

The Chemistry and General Science groups devoted their time to projects such as making glycerin from waste fats, experimenting with plastics and alloys, and building a model airport.

Especially prominent in the First semester's activities were lectures given by Leo C. Massipust, Editor of the "Journal of the Biological Photographic Association," and Mr. Al Krezowski, an alumnus of the University of Minnesota. Mr. Massipust's lecture was based on the experiments he had made with ultra-violet and infra-red rays, as well as X-rays. A film, "Champion Coal," was shown by Mr. Al Krezowski. The commentator was Ford Bond, a well-known radio personality. The movie depicted the history of coal from its origin to the completion of the process of mining and shipping.

The annual Freshman Party set off the second semester's activities. The only lecture given during this semester was the one by Mr. Karl Robinson, noted photographer and lecturer. "The Great North Road," the movie he presented, is regarded by film experts as one of the finest natural color motion pictures ever made in Alaska. The movie showed a bit of the Alcan Highway and pictured many scenic spots in the Northwest.

In its activities of the past year, the Science Club tried to do its share for the war program.

Art Club

Throughout the year the Art Club gives a school-wide service. Whenever he sees on a bulletin board posters reading "Sign up for the Oracle," "Girls' Club Meets Today," "Come to the Round Table Program in the Auditorium" or the like, the observer may be sure that he is looking at the work of Bay View artists, whose fine spirit has led them to help advertise every organization in the school. They were responsible for the display before the mural on the second floor, featuring a miniature dancing chorus and plastic likenesses of the leads in the operetta, "Behind the Guns," and it was they who drew for display on a corridor bulletin-board, pictures of the actual war goods that each week's total in War Stamps and Bonds could have bought.

Bay View well remembers, too, the Victory Christmas and the Gold Star Easter folders for War Stamps, and is proud of the striking window display featuring the Bay View Victory Scrapbook that won for the school the Liberty Brick.

This year the meetings of the Art Club were interesting in themselves. The members took sketching hikes in Humboldt Park when the weather permitted, and on other days they had a general good time listening to chalk talks by various students and drawing caricatures of the members. The most interesting of all the meetings was the joint one with the X Club at which Mr. Summ presented colored slides entitled "Painting with a Camera," illustrating the beauties of Milwaukee which many people miss.

Ushers' Club

The youngest member of the family of school activities is the Ushers' Club. Organized originally for the sole purpose of seating the audience at major school performances, the ushers continue to serve in their original capacity and have now taken on civic duties such as helping to direct to their proper destinations those who came to register under the rationing programs.

The ushers are organized into two crews, one under Mr. Coubal and one under Mr. Book, which function on alternate occasions. There is a student captain over each crew.

Certain qualifications are required of boys who wish to become ushers. They must have good scholarship, must be reliable and courteous, and must present a neat, pleasing appearance. The ushers not only give service to their school on public occasions, but also benefit themselves by learning to meet and to serve the public graciously.

The ushers had a part in two theatrical programs during the past year. The first, "The Pageant of Free Men," was given at the City Auditorium in November by the schools of Milwaukee and the second program was the traditional Home Talent show which is sponsored each year by the Ushers' Club. The students literally took over the stage to display their individual talents and specialty numbers, and prizes in the form of war stamps were awarded.

Just as the invention of radio has served to shorten distance and tie the world together, so the introduction of a loud speaker system changed Bay View High School from a group of isolated home-rooms into a school every part of which can be reached at any time with the same message.

Each morning and afternoon Bay View is greeted by the voices of her own radio announcers. In the morning, after the Call to the Colors and a bit of patriotic music, the announcers communicate to the student-body all news relative to the activities of the day. The climax of the broadcast is a special announcement reminding each student of his part in the winning of the war. This patriotic copy is provided by students in the Creative Writing classes. The afternoon broadcasts add all school news that has developed in the course of the day, and always ends with a patriotic appeal.

The announcers for the past year included Richard Henry, Eugene Kulczynski, Jack Raymond, Ray Ross, and Kenneth Rotta. Dave Danoff, Robert Kulz, and Harold Seligmiller headed the staff of radio technicians. All behind-the-scenes radio activities were controlled by this group, with the aid of several assistants. Every day these two staffs, the announcers and technicians, by their efficient service aid in promoting the war effort at Bay View.

Stage Crew

When the asbestos curtain at Bay View rises for a club program or especially on Tuesday mornings for the patriotic community singing, one can be assured that the efficient stage crew has prepared the setting and is on hand to assist in the success of the program.

If a visitor ventures behind scenes during a production, he sees stage hands rushing about, carrying out specific assignments: collecting needed properties, dimming and changing lights, shifting backdrops, and clamping scenes to the floor. Each stage hand has a particular job to do, and he must take his turn at staying for a rehearsal, sometimes late into the day. Yes, he stays even late into the night when a major Bay View production such as an operetta or class play is in progress. During the past year the crew prepared the stage on many a Monday night for the meeting of Air Raid Wardens held in the auditorium.

On the basis of service and leadership, stage managers are chosen each semester. Richard Cassidy and Robert La Marre were co-managers for the first semester, and David Daily held this position for the second semester.

Upon completing two years of active service and showing good qualities of leadership a stage hand is considered for an honor pin. The following boys received awards this year: David Daily, John Krainik, and Joe Schoendorf.

AH, LOVE!

GO ON!

"June Mad"

When a Bay View audience comes to a senior class play, it expects a superior performance. "June Mad" was just such a performance because of exceptionally good dramatic talent and a long period of rehearsal.

"June Mad" was the story of an air-minded boy, Chuck, and a boy-minded girl, Penny. Each had his problem—the boy to fly his glider, and the girl to obtain a new red evening dress. What happened when each attempted to solve his problem is the story of "June Mad."

Tom Heaton and Jeane Bolz gave a commendable performance as the two juvenile leads. Their comedy was supported by the family maid, played by Eunice Voelz, the man-of-all-work, John Jaeger, and the "little girl next door," Bonita Beyer. Penny Wood and Chuck Harris could not be allowed to run wild, so sobering influences were exerted in the characters of Penny's mother and father as enacted by Lorraine Ehlke and John Krainik, and Chuck's father, Dick Henry. Romance was furnished in the rivalry of Penny's brother, Ken Rotta, and Roger Van Vleck, Walter Luebke, for the love of the town vamp, Julia Harris played by Sevia Katz.

"June Mad" was an excellent choice for a class play because it gave the actors a chance to be themselves. It showed the youthful enthusiasm that is always bubbling over and has to be checked by wise parents. It was a high school play in every sense of the word. The audience enjoyed it because it was a good play and because it was a superior performance.

VICTORY RIBBONS

Against the background of a village in the rolling desert hills a little behind the front lines in North Africa, the story of "Behind the Guns," one of comedy and intrigue, unfolded to the sold-out houses in Bay View's auditorium on Friday and Saturday, May 7 and 8. Skilled musicianship, dramatic talent, and colorful dancing combined to turn out a finished production comparable to a professional show.

Judging by the reaction of the audience, the singing of the four leads, Peggy Potton, Stanley Nastal, George Miotke, and Henry Schade was excellent. The applause also indicated that for many, the dancing highlighted the production.

"Behind the Guns"

In the first act, the Red, White, and Blue Line Routine, with its precision dancing, and the terpsichorean version of "This Is the Army, Mr. Jones," added snap and color, while a comedy dance by three of the male leads invoked a great deal of laughter. The opening dance of the second act pantomimed the farewell of a group of soldiers to their sweethearts, who turned to Red Cross nursing when left alone. A ballroom scene in this act gave opportunity for many varied numbers, perhaps the most beautiful of which was the Fountain Dance, performed by twenty-four girls clad in costumes shimmering with cellophane. A comedy ballet, and soft shoe and ballet solos were high points of this act, with the Victory Ribbons Dance, which called for a great deal of skill, a fitting climax.

War-conscious as it is, Bay View made use of time between scenes in Act II. Girls, dressed in the red, white, and blue costumes of the Red Cross dance number, sold Victory Corsages of War Stamps to the audience.

Glee Clubs

One of the features of the Music Festival to which the Bay View audience always looks forward is the singing of the glee clubs. This January the white-stolid, red-robed a cappella chorus sang two songs of our Russian allies, "Carol of the Russian Children" and "Carol of the Belles"; and two Fred Waring arrangements, "Angels of Mercy," dedicated to the American Red Cross Nurse, and "The Lost Chord." The talents of George Miotke and Roy Zastrow were displayed in their arrangement of the popular number, "White Christmas."

Equally appropriate to the times were the selections of the glee clubs. "A Song of Peace" from Sibelius' famous "Finlandia" and "This Is My Country" were two of the numbers of the boys' group; while the Latin-American "Dance a Cachucha" was a specialty of the girls' chorus.

DANCE BAND

Senior Band

Just as band music has always inspired the soldier before battle, so did Bay View's band rally the students to great patriotic heights by daily reminding them of their patriotic duties by means of transcriptions played over the public address system. The band, under the leadership of Mr. M. D. Williams, made its spirited contribution to the Tuesday morning rallies by supplying the music for the community singing, and with such songs as those of the Army Air Corps, Signal Corps, and the Field Artillery, it helped bring to a climax the Tuesday morning War Stamp and Bond sales. Also, from time to time, the band gave the boys of the community a rousing send-off as they left for service to their country.

Notable among other activities of the band were the drills and the playing at football games. With the Stars and Stripes flying high and with Bay View banners unfurled, the band marched down the field at all conference games, displaying the well-executed marches and figures that weeks of training had helped to perfect. The same perfection marked the spirited playing of the band at the annual Music Festival in January. Throughout the year the band has contributed generously and efficiently to many school projects as well as to wartime activities.

Senior Orchestra

The Senior Orchestra has devoted itself during the past year not only to holiday programs and to public performances in the school auditorium, but also to community service such as playing for Parent Teachers' Association meetings, church programs, and the commencement of the Air Raid Wardens of the Bay View district.

At the Music Festival in January, the orchestra played the overture to "The Barber of Seville," which brought forth beautiful melody and excellent musicianship from the players. The "Concerto in A Minor" by Grieg and the "Concerto in D Major" by Mozart were performed with great skill and exquisite tone quality by Ray Zastrow and Arnold Herman, respectively, masters of their instruments — the piano and the flute.

In an attempt to further greater interest in music in all the city high schools, the orchestra gave a program at Girls' Junior Technical High School in May. Furthermore, many members of the orchestra attended programs by professionals, such as that recently given by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, and gained inspiration for greater effort and expression in their own organization.

In a war-torn world music has exerted a forceful and comforting influence.

Football

This season, although the Bay View line was inexperienced, they came through because of their determined, fighting spirit. Reinforced by their outstanding center, Claude Kaczmarek, the forward wall provided good offensive protection.

The Meyermen had a well balanced offense consisting of Pilak's passing, with Gubala, Zobel, and Fengler on the receiving end. The ground offensive featured Henning and Raschke around end and Konkell and Krcmar on line plays. Hallberg's toe played an important part in several of the Bay wins.

Lincoln—Bay View: 20-21—Highlight of the season was the Bay View-Lincoln battle, which was one of the most spectacular in Bay View sports history. After trailing 20-7 throughout the game, the Meyermen put on a last minute spurt to edge out Lincoln 21-20.

As the game entered the final quarter, Henning ran around end to chalk up a tally for the Bays. Several plays later, Kaczmarek snatched a fumble in mid-air and ran to the 11. The Lincolnmen held for three downs, but on the fourth with 9 to go and less than a minute on the clock, Pilak tossed to Fengler in the end zone. Cal Hallberg's gifted toe was never more appreciated than at that time.

East—Bay View: 14-0—With Washington assured the conference crown, the spotlight turned to the decisive battle between the traditional rivals, Bay View and East, for the runner-up spot. After both teams stalemated each other during the first half, the Tiger squad opened fire and scored two touchdowns to win, 14-0.

Custer—Bay View: 0-26—Starting the '42 conference season with a display of real team work, the Meyermen trampled over the Custer eleven to the tune of 26-0.

The Red-and-Black squad was led by Jim Pilak, who worked the aerial route, and Bob Raschke, who led the running attack. The Bays newly rejuvenated line played a fine defensive brand of ball and scarcely allowed the Custer gridders any opportunity to score throughout the game.

Pulaski—Bay View: 0-14—In the second quarter, the Bay offense really began to roll. After the recovery of a Rambler fumble on the Bay 35 yard line, the Meyermen began a march which resulted in their first tally when Bob Raschke took a long pass from Jim Pilak. In this same quarter, a series of line smashes brought the ball into position and an end sweep by Raschke resulted in another Bay tally.

Football

Washington—Bay View: 35-7—Tasting their first conference defeat the Bay View gridders went down fighting a powerful, hard hitting Washington squad. The Meyermen, completely stopped on the ground, took to the air and they kept the game from becoming a complete rout by connecting in 14 out of 30 aerial thrusts.

Tech—Bay View: 7-14—The Bays snapped the homecoming jinx after five years of homecoming defeats, when they vanquished the Tech Boilermakers, 14 to 7. The first scoring opportunity arose after a Tech punt was blocked by Kaczmarek and recovered by the Bays in the end zone. At the end of the last quarter Bud Henning after making a 32 yard punt return, swept around end to score.

Cross Country

Turning in another perfect record for dual competition the Mattheimen scored seven victories against no defeats. The Bays ran off to high honors as they snatched top place in the City meet for the third consecutive time. Taking individual honors in this meet, Jim Corroo won first place, while Tom Davis placed fourth.

The hill and dalers made fourth place as a team in the state meet, with Jim Corroo taking second place honors.

Basketball

Weakened greatly through the graduation of many of the former Viewite cage veterans, the Nelsonmen suffered one of the greatest setbacks of recent years, coming out on the long end of only three of their cage duels.

The task of developing a capable squad from a group of willing, but inexperienced fellows was the tedious problem facing Coach Nelson. Although the boys fought valiantly throughout the season, they were able to break into the victory column only three times.

Taking five firsts out of a possible nine, the Bay tankers splashed their way to second place in the city meet. This feat was accomplished with the able support of Dick Schneider, who came in first in the 50 yard free-style event and broke the record in the 100 yard back-stroke. Claude Kaczmarek won the century free-style. In the relays both teams were victorious.

The Crawfordmen tallied nine victories in eleven meets and were tied once by a strong West Milwaukee squad. The Bay team went down to defeat only at the hands of the state champions, Shorewood.

Track

Bay View's track team got off to a flying start, by defeating a plucky Lincoln team 75 to 38 on the Viewites' home field. The Red-and-Black squad took first places in nine of thirteen events and tied for first in another. They also slammed the high hurdles and pole vault. Harris Dement led the Bays to victory as he took first in the 100, second place in the 200, and tied for top honors in the high jump.

Coach Bill Matthei's thinclads captured their second straight victory of the season by overwhelming Juneau High School, 79½ to 33½. The Viewites strength in this meet rested largely in the middle distances, sprints, and field events. Ray Zobel and Harris Dement sparkled for the Mattheimen with 14¼ and 12¼ points respectively.

TIMBER TOPPERS

Relays, Bay View accumulated a total of 13½ points to finish ninth in a field of eleven.

A tie for second place in the pole vault was the highest position the Mattheimen would claim. The 880 yard relay team added six points to the Bay total, as they came in third.

Tennis—The single crown was won by Katherine Doepke, who defeated Barbara Zoerb in a close match; 6-4, 6-3.

Katherine Doepke and Barbara Zoerb triumphed over Rosemary Walloch and Janice Heineman to win the doubles tournament by a score of 6-4, 6-0.

Basketball—The "A" day Jeeps defeated the "B" day Zephyr team for top honors in the cage sport by a final score of 17-9. The winners displayed an excellent defensive game and an aggressive offense.

Nereids' Club—Patricia Rozek presided over Semester I activities alongside Barbara Zoerb, as Vice-President and Carol Rosek as Secretary.

Semester II saw Charlotte Bunge in the President's position, Marie Truetel as Vice-President, and Jean Schuetz as Scribe.

Swimming Meet, 1943—Splashing their way to victory, the Juniors snared the 1943 championship in the 16th Annual Girl's pool. The score board tallied juniors 45; seniors 42; sophmores 19; and freshmen 2.

The juniors, since they entered the competition three years ago have been consistently nosing their way toward the title. As freshmen they ranked third and in last year's meet the team finished with second place honors. Reaching their goal, the juniors are the title winners this season.

JANUARY GRADUATES.

Bay View alumni and faculty men now in service, returning to the school on furlough, often meet informally with the graduating boys who are nearing the age of eighteen. Students who talk to them feel that from those in the service they will get the counsel of experience.

Class Commission

The graduates, war-minded since Pearl Harbor, not only purchased war bonds weekly, but also served as air raid wardens, military roll-call workers, victory writers and reporters, and participants in salvage drives and first aid classes. Carol Swan, in her address of welcome, said significantly, "Under responsibilities we have matured far earlier than the average high school student. We have been forced to realize that there is much to be done before we can live normally."

Leaders in school activities are chosen to serve on the class commission. Marion Wight, Carol Swan, Kenneth Rotta, Robert Krueger, and Roy Christianson were the members of the February Commission. Their duties consisted of collecting the class dues, planning the senior party, and choosing the class gift, which this year was a one-hundred-dollar war bond. Kenneth Rotta, in making the presentation, said emphatically, "This War Bond is our contribution to the defense of America — our America. May God keep it ours."

Of the one hundred ten enrolled in the midyear graduating class, thirty-nine were registered with the Armed Forces, many of them expecting immediate call to the service of their country; and although usually from twenty to thirty percent of the Bay View graduates go on to college, this year less than ten percent were planning to attend institutions of higher learning. Almost all of those who were not enrolled in the services obtained employment; no Bay View graduate expected to stay at home.

Now that America is presenting her awards to deserving Americans in the form of wings and stripes, the honors that these students receive seem all the more important. While all America looks to her fighting men for protection, her fighting men must look for intelligent leadership to America's schools. It is the honor students who are gaining the experience needed for that leadership.

Class Commission

The June Class of 1943 elected June Schulz, Bonita Beyer, George Miotke, Raymond Ross, and Raymond Zobel to serve on the class commission, whose duty it was to handle all class business, to decide upon a class gift, and to collect class dues. Thomas Heaton was selected as alumni representative. The class, in keeping with their patriotic as well as their scholastic interest, voted to present a one-hundred-dollar war bond to the G. A. Fritsche Memorial Scholarship Fund. An interesting new feature of the commencement exercises was the wearing of caps and gowns by the graduates.

Early in their junior year, the class of 1943 discussed the idea of a military honor roll, and largely through their efforts a roll call of 1200 names of Bay View Students has been erected in the school.

From the school records the senior editors gathered interesting class statistics concerning 293 graduates: 145 plan to go to work immediately, 63 plan to enter college, 77 will be inducted into the Armed Forces, 6 will enter nurses' training school, 2 will enter Art School, and 15 boys who passed the V-12 mental examination will report for their physical examinations to the Naval Officers' Procurement Station.

Discovering Our Neighbors

Restrictions imposed by the war have caused a revision in the habits of many people — and some pleasant surprises. The necessity of saving gas and curtailing travel has demonstrated that almost everything one needs, whether for personal or business use, may be obtained right in Bay View, often at a saving in money and always at a saving in time and trouble . . . We are still in a position to render our usual prompt service on your printing needs.

Helping In This Big Job

The biggest job ever faced by American industry is that of providing the ships, tanks, planes, guns and the other equipment needed by our armed forces. In this Nordberg production is playing an important part. For our part in the war effort, every Nordberg worker is proud of the Navy and Maritime Commission awards for "Excellence in Production" and "Outstanding Achievement."

Hi! is!
Say what's the idea say not leaving us make you we here. What's but going? Well any way I'll forgive you.
Can we such say I wish to this year and this looking forward to a better time next year. That offer is still good about coming over and making records this summer.
and don't forget those swimming tanks we made for this summer will "help" it along now it is over and don't think those guys

17 YEAR OLDS! NOW YOU CAN FLY for NAVY

Here are the qualifications necessary for you to obtain the Navy's $27,000 pilot training education free and to become a member of that picked group who wear the Navy Wings of Gold:

- Seventeen years of age.
- Graduate from high school by June 30, 1943, or already have been graduated.
- Obtain recommendation from high school principal or college head.
- Rank scholastically in the upper half of high school graduating class or, if attending college, maintain a standing in the upper two-thirds of college class.
- Pass regular Naval Aviation Cadet examination.

See Your Principal or College Head Today

Accepted men will not be called for training until they reach their 18th birthday and have been graduated from high school.

Dear Vic;

Well, Vic, I am about to graduate, so I can't help recalling all the good times we had together, gifts & spirit hours. I should like a shellwaist of fur, want it. Did Conky ever skin you, and your mark, say, a tape we got together in summer sometime. You can mind history at sea, for which you deserve a hand. Knap up the fine trumpet work, Vic, and you'll hit the big time someday, well, I can't do a class to say more, so I think I will close. It's been great knowing you.

Page One Hundred Eighty-five

Dear Vic,
I don't know your very name but I know you is a real kid. I guess it was you who played with my cousin;
I forgot his name but he's a great kid.
I hope you're happy.

Let me know when you want any help in mathematics. I will try to help you.

Lucas, Henry

I have known you for sometime, and we have had a lot of fun. So bad those days are over.
I want to wish you
the Best of every thing.
You deserve the Best.

Dear Vic:

I seem to be the only one who doesn't know what to say to you. There's loads of flattering words I should like to write down, but I hate to take up an whole page doing it.

I really enjoyed being in your chemistry class (your mistake), and had more fun from together than I can think of back!

But I do want to wish you loads of luck in the future with the triumph of you - here's hoping you with someone named Harry James.

Remember me as a Chemistry 101.

Silly William

Dear Vic,

I am pretty sure you are in it now and I will be glad to see you soon!
I am glad to hear that you are the best teacher of the country!!
Good luck
and happy teaching!

Best wishes,
Harry James

Here are best wishes to a well kid and a very good trumpet player. You will really get far in the musical field. Stanley Mastal

Dear Vic,
your not only pages are marvelous but are all-around great fellows. Will miss you - luck - stuff marlyn schell

Dear Vic,
It's been swell having you sit across from me in English. Lots of luck to a swell guy. I hope you become a big orchestra leader some day.
Norma Harofami

To a great trumpet player and a swell
guy in my homeroom
Bob Kaiser

Dear Vic,
See, I hardly know what to say this, it's been so sweet knowing you and I'm sure our friendship will never cease. I first met you in Harmony Class first hours, remember, there weren't enough in class so we tried out for the Club. . Some fun.
You'll never know how it feels to have a sweet fellow like you around when you're new in school.

That duet we played for the Amateur show didn't go so good, but it wasn't your fault. It was good experience though.

Then something else you'll never forget is the Boy's Club Election. Three of us didn't get in but I sure was glad to know you and John did. That shit was quite the thing. Ya sub!!

Vic, I know you're going to be a big success and you deserve it. Keep up that fine tootin'.

Bye now.

Dear Vic.
 Good Luck to you always. You were really swell to me when I came in Sr. Band. I think that you are really a grand person
 Eleanor Agnew

See this is going to be hard writing in your book because I don't know just what to say. I have heard so many stories about you but didn't believe all of them because I don't think you are that kind (at least I hope not).
 You have been a swell friend and I hope you friendship will stay that way. Say how about those good jokes you were going to tell me & don't you dare looks bad. That you had fun that one night out at Lake Fair Park (hot time) well all that kidding people because I really think you are swell and feel sorry that I all the girls till stories about you (at least I hope they are stories).
 Lots of Luck Always
